ARM SHOT OFF

Price Galford, aged 15 years, son of Summers Galford, of Woodrow, lost his left arm by a gun shot wound Monday afternoon.

He went for the cows and took the family shot gun along to kill a ground hog. In getting over a large, slick log, he fell down. The gun struck the log with sufficient force to discharge it. The shot took effect in his left arm at the elbow, literally blowing it off. A few shot were found in the other arm.

The unfortunate boy brought to Marlinton and his arm was amputated at the hospital. He lost a great amount of blood, but he is doing well.

Mr. Locke A. Livsey, of Bartow, Pocahontas county, and Miss Laika P. Hill, of Renick, Greenbrier county, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. J. S. Wickline, at his home at Renick, on Wednesday, July 25, 1923. Mr. Livsey is agent for the C. and O. railway at Bartow, and the bride is the accomplished and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bryson Hill, of Renick. She is a graduate of the Hillsboro high school, and was one of the teachers at Cass during the last term. They left on a bridal tour to Washington, Baltimore and New York, where he has a brother whom they will visit. Many good wishes go with them for happiness and success.—W. VA. News.

The series of meetings at Marys Chapel on Elk, closed Monday night. There were eighteen public professions of faith in Christ. Dr. Flow went immediately to the Lower church Sunday Swago to continue a meeting begun on Swago. He will preach at Marys Chapel Sunday morning, August 5, at which time the doors of the church will open to receive members.

FAIR NOTES

Withrow McClintic, in charge of the hog department of the Pocahontas County Fair, asks that the owners of fine hogs immediately take steps to exhibit them. Get the entry blanks in his hands not later than August 13—the sooner the better in order to be assured of good pen room. It is Mr. McClintic's desire to have a big exhibition of hogs, and as many breeds as possible represented.

A motor boat has been added to the Fair Ground field.

A man of an adjoining county called attention to the difference in the show posters of the Pocahontas Fair and an old time fair which is also being billed in his county. Our posters speak loud of the exhibits of live stock, horse show, poultry, farm products, and the other things that go to make up a real county fair, and incidentally call attention to the midway features. The other fair has exactly the same shows, as are coming here, but they advertise on their bills little else than the carnival. The difference was so striking as to attract attention.

And speaking about midway diversions—the management has exercised care in securing shows free of objectionable features. The following statement has been given out:—

"Irving J. Polack, owner of the World at Home Shows, will be in personal charge of his organization. He has sixteen high class exhibitions, including the Caterpillar, a most sensational riding service.

"He has long been an advocate of clean amusements for clean Americans, and promises that his attractions measure up to the standards sought by the showmen's legislative committee, and the carnival clean up agency. No dancing girls are permitted and nimble fingered gamblers cannot fleece the fair visitors for Mr. Polack will be assisted by officials of the fair association in keeping out objectionable gentry."

Talking about insanity, the old trainer at the Fair grounds says there are many kinds, but the worst form is horse craziness. Many people are so afflicted and they are all incurable. The horse show of the County Fair, August 20 to 24 will help them some.

A very heavy rain in the Thorny Creek region Monday, which washed cornfields and roads pretty badly. The river raised about two feet. Fine rains in all parts of the county the past week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mann, at Warwick, July 18, 1923, a daughter.

SUICIDE NEAR CASS

Cass, W. Va.—Clarence Wamsley committed suicide in a cave on the farm of Joe McLaughlin on or about July 21st. His body was found on July 25th. He had gone far back into the cave, sat down on the paper in which a pistol was wrapped, and shot himself in the head. His home was at Ridge way, Pennsylvania. He was 45 years old, and he was afflicted with a cancer on his tongue.

Mr. Wamsley left Ridge way a few days before his death. On July 20 he mailed a letter at Elkins to his brother Floyd, at Ridge way. He enclosed his will and a check for what money he had in bank. He stated that he was in Elkins, that two doctors in Ridge way, one in Philadelphia, and two in Elkins had told him that without an operation the cancer on his tongue would kill him in about three months, but by removing his tongue he would possibly live a year. He said, "I have decided not to have an operation, and will take the matter in my own hands and end it all. I know of a place about 100 miles from here where I can get about 50 feet under ground. This will be a kind of burial for me. Break the news to mother some way. You look after her and see that her bills are paid because she will forget them. Get her pension check for her. I will never be back in Ridge way, Pa. Tell the folks I have gone to Norfolk, Va., for my health."

On July 21st Mr. Wamsley came to Cass bought a money order for $50 and enclosed it in a note to his brother Floyd. It said:

"Dear Floyd—I have about 6 miles to walk up a mt. Clarence."

Upon the receipt of these letters, Floyd Wamsley and Mr. McGehehin came to Cass, arriving on the morning of July 25th. Upon showing the letters to local people it was decided to search the cave on Joe McLaughlin's farm, as it is the only cave near Cass.

Sergeant L. S. Cochran and U. S. Deputy Marshall U. S. Beasley went with the strangers to search the cave. They found the body about 150 feet from the opening of the cave, just over an offset of about five feet, sitting with the back against the wall of the cave, the right hand still holding a small 42 caliber pistol. About a half inch directly in front of the right ear was a bullet wound. The bullet had penetrated the brain. The skin was powder burned.

The body was brought to Cass where an inquest was held. The jury rendered the verdict that Wamsley came to his death from a self inflicted gunshot wound. The body taken by truck to Elkins, and then by rail to Ridge way for burial.

The deceased was a man of good habits and good education. For the past 15 years he had been clerk in a hotel at Ridge way. A short time ago Mr. Wamsley's tongue became infected because of a bad tooth. He then had his teeth pulled, but later his trouble was pronounced cancer of the tongue. He leaves one brother and a mother about 80 years old to mourn his sad fate.

Some sixteen or eighteen years ago the deceased was employed on a saw-mill by D. D. Hazeltine, who cut lumber on the McLaughlin farm. Thus he knew of the cave.

LIBERTY AND BAXTER

Dr. John L. Armstrong of Lawis burg, will preach at Baxter Church, Sunday August 5, at 11 a. m. and at Liberty Church at 3 p. m. The pastor, Mr. Monroe, is assisting Rev. T. H. Phay in evangelistic services in the Renick field. At Rapp school house there were nine accessions to the church, and another good meeting is in progress at Brownstown school house.

On Monday night the leach house at the Durbin Tannery was partially destroyed by fire. Heavy rain aided the fire fighters in keeping the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings.

George L. Clark of Hillsboro, tells us he is specializing in the raising of purebred bronze turkeys of the Gold Back strain. He has now a flock of 50 young birds, descended from a gobbler that weighed fifty pounds. He is preparing to have an exhibit at the Pocahontas County Fair, August 20 to 24. Last year he raised a flock of 10 which were sold for $300. He sells most of his turkeys for breeders, but he sold some on the Philadelphia market last Thanksgiving which brought him $212.25 a pound. These were mostly hens, only two gobblers in the shipment, but the lot averaged 17 pounds each.

FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Eagle had a reunion of their family on Thursday of last week at the home of their daughter, Mrs. A. W. Hill. It had been more than twenty-five years since all the family had met together.

The home coming consisted of the father and mother and their five living children—two of their children, Mollie and Enoch, having died many years ago in their early childhood.

The living children are Miss Maggie Eagle, now living in Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Ruth McCarty, of Cranestown, Preston county, this state, whose husband, Thomas M. McCarty, is a Methodist minister; E. C. Eagle, of Hinton, prosecuting attorney of Summers county; John Eagle, of Julia, Greenbrier county, a farmer; and Meta Hill, teacher and farmer.

Both the parents have passed their 85th year, yet are blessed with all their faculties and good health, and the family reunion was a real joy to them as well as all the children, and the many grand children who were privileged to attend. After a couple of days spent together and many happy reminiscences of their childhood and early lives, they broke up and departed for their various homes, but each carrying with them the fondest recollections of one of the happiest events in their lives. ### SERVICE FOR REVIVAL

Services for revival continue at the Methodist Church each night this week at 7:45. Also morning services for prayer and inspiration from 9:30 to 10:30. The public is cordially invited to these services, and all Christians are urged to attend and hear Mrs. S. Hortense Ropp, the celebrated woman orator. Those who have heard her are apparently unanimous in their surprise and approval of the messages given by this consecrated speaker. Not often is it the privilege of a community to hear such peerless messages for the soul. Congregations are large and splendid attentions given. The speaker is asking that Christians of all denominations pray for a sweeping revival.

OBITUARY

George Washington Rogers, son of James L. and Elizabeth Rogers, was born March 30, 1857, and died July 26, 1923, aged 66 years three months and twenty-six days.

He was married to Miss Susan S. Beverage, April 17, 1881. Of this union nine children were born, five of whom preceded their father to the better land. Those living are Mrs. Lanty Cole, of Marlinton; Mrs. Jake Jackson of Buckeye, Mrs. D. W. Taylor, of Los Angeles, California, and Miss Mintie Rogers, Toledo, Ohio.

In early boyhood Mr. Rogers became a Christian, and for more than fifty years lived a humble, unassuming, yet consistent christian life. As long as his health would permit he was one of the most faithful church goers in his community. At the time of his death he was a member of the M. P. church.

On July 27 funeral services were conducted from the home by Rev. C. A. Powers, of Edray, assisted by Rev. Mr. Hipes of Seebert, and his remains were laid to rest in the Fleming graveyard. P.

Having been born and reared in Pocahontas county, a majority of the 78 years of my life was spent in the county. Many, very many changes have taken place since my boyhood days—After the war between the states, I helped Andrew McLaughlin and bro. The Price residence on west side of river, Skyles house on east side near the wooden bridge, Hugh McLaughlin home near the court house and Harper McLaughlin dwelling, since remodeled and now owned by the Hon. GOOD intentions long deferred are oft neglected

The erection of a final tribute to our loved ones should be given prompt attention. The esteem in which they were held should be evidenced by a fitting memorial.

Care should be taken, however, to select a material which is not only beautiful, but which can retain forever its original beauty.

GEORGIA MARBLE possesses this attribute. It is formed of tiny overlapping crystals, making it non-absorbent and giving it the essential qualities of beauty, strength and durability.

Its beauty and evenness of texture and its adaptability to design, makes GEORGIA MARBLE the ideal monumental material.
